AS STREET CLOSES Alabama Congressman Optimistic in Statement on Outlook for South.

> Predicting cotton at $100 a bale and cotton seed at $60 a ton, Congressman Thomas Heffin of Alabama issued an optimistic statement today regarding the outlook for disposing of the Bouth's otton crop There is nothing "bearish" about the views of Mr. Heffin, who says the cot-

Bethlehem Steel was next in prominence, jumping during the final ten imilities from 475, the opening price, to 484, recording a net gain of 7 points and setting another new high water mark for this stock. Crucible Steel gained two points, closing at 93½.

Westinghouse was one of the most active of the industrial group and showed strength throughout the morning, closing at 63%, with a gain of seven-cighths of a point. It was reported that additional war orders, agregating $12,000,000, has just been added to those aiready on the books of the company.

The railread atocks were but lightly war continues American powder mills war continues American powder mills will leave not more than 2,000,000 bales of this crop to be exported-7,000,000 bales short of the amount exported up to September 30, 1315! So cotton for spinning purposes, smokeless powder, spinning purposes, smokeless powder, and other explosives will be in greater demand than ever before. Cotton prices are bound to be higher, higher than at any time since the war between the States. The European countries are now paying 35 cents for dry batteries that used to sell for 17 cents. They are now paying $1.75 per pound for pickwick acid used in making explosives. It used to sell for 15 cents per pound, and they are going to pay and ought to pay 20 cents a pound for cotton, and they will pay that before very long. Germany is already in the Southern market buying and storing cotton for future use. It will require more than 500,000 bales of cotton and linters for the manufacture of powder and high explosive shells for our army and navy. The cotton holding movement will become general in the South before very long, and then prices will soar. I shall not be surprised to see cotton seed selling at $60 a ton before Christmas. Cotton seed meal is selling as high as $38 a ton and some are asking $60.000
